Mentorship Program – 2012 – Kathryn Portelli, Victoria

The project was a 2.8 by 4m Snakes 'N' Ladders game board, located at a tourist resort in Kyneton, Central Victoria. The composition consisted of 66 400mm pavers made in the indirect method, with 50 numeral squares, start and finish squares and black bordered snake activity squares.

Hanh Truong was a dedicated and quick learning mentee who travelled the hour and a half journey weekly for 7 weeks during the fabrication stage, and attended for one long installation day during spring. One particular tile – 'Hatching' was used as an example from design, through materials choice, cutting, indirect gluing, grouting and placement, so that the process stages were clearly defined and connected.

Hanh brought her family to see the finished project and they enjoyed playing on it.

The mentorship was a most rewarding experience and I encourage MAANZ professionals to consider offering this educative opportunity to our members in future, where possible.
